Waco's Sad Fate. Most of our readers will remember

n the Diary of "Little Claude," which appeared in our columns some two years ago, his frequent references to his pet squirrel, 'Waco." Never was a pet more dearly dolized by a child. He obtained two of them while we resided in the old San Marcos Hotel property, in the spring of 1876. One soon fell a victim to Giesen's dogs-Waco (or Waka as the boy first named it) survived. He and we went one night to Squire Grooms's, who then lived at Col. Herndon's place on Purgatory, and traded for a regular squirrel cage. Then followed great times for Waco and its owner. It was a remarkably smart and docile little thing, and its various antics and performances were for a long time regularly recorded in the Diary. Claude painted the squirrel's portrait on his cage with the following sign : "Waco & Co., Cash Paid for Pecans." He continued thus interested in it for several years, and to the end of his life always carefully attended to its wants, but not very long before he died said that he believed he would set it at liberty, if he were sure it would not be killed or caught because of its tameness. · Alas, it could not have met a worse fate than it did on Tuesday

Because of the hot weather and the rather close quarters afforded by its cage, the younger members of our family importuned us to get a larger one for Waco, so about a week previous we bought one which we had seen at Mr. John McGehee's at the Institute, brought it home and established Waco in its new quarters, and placed the cage by the house outside. It was unanimously voted a great change for the better, and Waco appeared fully to appreciate the change. But on the night before named. while playing in the moonlight in the 'lower story' of the cage, some one of the numerous worthless curs which infest this towndozen to one that is of any use-contrived to force open the door and caught and killed poor little Waco. The cage next morning was found tenantless, and its late inmate lying some distance off.

Waco was eight years old last spring, aud seemed good for as many more to come. Owing to the associations of the past, never was the loss of the life of a "wee beastie" more deeply and keenly mourned than was Waco at home. We buried the darling pet at the grave of the child who loved it so well in life, sadiy reflecting on the suggestiveness of its fate of what so often occurs in human affairs, that in the very effort to benefit and bless others, we not unfrequently bring disaster to them, and remorse and and misery to ourselves.

Democratic Convention, Precinct No. 1.

The convention was called to order by Capt. James G. Storey, chairman of the democratic executive committee of Precinct No. 1, Hays county, who stated the object of the meeting, and on motion was elected chairman, and Jas. G. Burleson, secretary. On motion of Col. S. D. Jackman, the ollowing resolutions were adopted:

1. Be it resolved that this convention vote by ballot, putting the ballots in a box, and if there be two ballots found folded together that both be thrown out.

That there be two judges to pass up-on the democracy of voters, and that none but democrats be entitled to vote, and the same qualifications be required as in other elections, and that there be two clerks ap-3. That one hour be given in which to cast the vote for Capt. Kyle and Dr. Combs, candidates for the legislature.

On motion of J. V. Hutchins the resolu tions were amended as follows:

Allowing all entitled to vote at the next The chair appointed E. Northeraft and R. H. Manlove as judges and W. C. Dugger and Ford M. Burleson as clerks of the election, the chair to act as umpire in case udges could not agree on qualified voters. Mr. J. V. Hutchins moved that the chair

The bringing of such a case before a civil tri unal was something of a novelty, and it is amusing to think of the judge and lawyers posting themselves up on theological topics. The book gives a very full and clear idea of the views of the Disciples, and their orthodoxy is established, at least by the civil courts. As to anything further we shall not undertake to give an opinion, further than to say that the witty Rev. Sidney Smith, if we remember rightly, gave per-haps the best key to the spirit of such controversaries when he said that "orthodoxy

We regret to learn that the organization of a Woman's Christian Temperance Union at this place, set on foot recently by Mrs. Beauchamp, head of the movement in Texas, is likely to fall through, at least for the present. Such things in their infancy require some nursing. The enterprise we feel sure could be made a fine success and great bless-ing here, with the proper effort to give it a Professor J. C. Patton, of Nashville College for young ladies, is in the city, and gave the FREE PRESS a pleasant call yesterday. He is traveling in the interest of the college and reports having met with great success throughout the State. The institution he represents was established in con-nection with Vanderbilt University in 1880, for the higher education of women, with an ample endowment and complete appoint ments in all respects, and claims advasuperior to any college for young ladies at the South.

We have been definquent in not noticing ere this the receipt of a package of Maple seed from Mr. J. J. Dabiels, an old friend of Linn county, Iowa, where we spent several years at an early period in its history. We presume they are of the soft or silverleaf variety, which is the favorite shade tree all over the North. It is a very beautiful tree, cleanly, and in every way unobjec tionable. Our friend was no doubt not aware that this part of Texas, "in a state of na-ture" is too dry for the successful growth of this tree: but in a "state of grace", pro duced by irrigation, it would probably do well; and having just had introduced into the grounds of the "Hermitage" no less than four hydrants from the water works, by thus subsidising the silvery San Marcos we hope to succeed in growing not only the silver maple, but also many other beautiful things which we have heretofore dispaired of producing. If we ever grow a tree or so from this seed, it will recall pleasantly to our mind the fine scenery of its native home, the valley of the Red Cedar river, and the good friends we once knew in Iowa; as als the still older and dearer associations of our Indiana home. Thanks to our friend, at all events, for his remembrance.

Bridge Business--New Policeman, etc.

Tuesday, August 12, 8:30 p. m.—Present Mayor Cock, Councilmen Wood, Glover, Dailey and Giosen. The following bills were allowed: I. H. Julian, printing and advertising, $3.10; Jas. Blair, scavenger, $4.25; J. H. Gary, plow etc., for road work, $12.40; J. W. Danforth, boarding town prisoners, $10.25.

E. Northeraft submitted plan for the proposed bridge at Cheatham's ford, and offered to put up same complete for $1000, payable Jan, 1st. 1886 bearing 6 pen cent. interest from date of completion and acceptance of same. The ceunty agreed to pay $500, the town being responsible for the remaining $500 and interest as above stated on the whole amount. Alderman Dailey desired that the bridge contract be let to the lowest bidder; whereupon Northeraft stated that anybody who would re-imburse him for the outlay for pile-driver and other tools could take the contract. The proposition made by Northeraft to build the bridge for $1000 as given above was accepted by the board and the mayor was authorized to draw up the contract.

Frank O'banion was appointed special policeman at $2 per month and perquisites of office.

FIRE IN SAN MARCOS. Puss Wright's Mansion totally Consume Tuesday night, shortly after 10 o'clock an alarm of fire was given, pistols were fired, bells rung and a general scramble made for the scene of conflagration. It proved to be the dwelling of Mrs. Pass Wright, a colored female of rather unsavory reputation, which was situated in the rear of T. P. Dailey's place. The proprietress was absent, presumably at the colored folks' camp meeting on the Blanco, and her child-ren, four or five in number, were at a neigh-boring cabin. When the reporter reached the scene the fire was under full headway and beyond control and the house and all its contents were soon completely destroyed.

The fire company were on hand with their hook and ladder truck but little remained to be done, and after tearing down a few burning pickets and leaving a man to guard the fire they retired. In view of the habitual carelessness of negroes in leaving their small children alone in the house it may be regarded as accidental that some belonging to this woman were not cremated. Nothing definite was learned as to the origin of the fire.
